ATHLETICS

BASKETBALL

Taking everything into consideration, the success of this year's squad is not measured by the percentage column. Coach Olsen met and conquered untold difficulties in whipping a more or less disorganized bunch of material into a team strong enough to compete with the machines of the Big Ten. We entertain great hopes for the future, as "Rome wasn't built in a day."

ROBINSON

"Dud" Robinson, captain of this year's team, is one of the best guards that Ohio State has ever had. He worked under a handicap this year, inasmuch as he was a veteran, and so had to change his method of playing to the new-coached system. "Dud" is the kind of a man that his teammates would term "a fine fellow." He was always fighting, despite the poor showing the team made. He has real Ohio State spirit. "Dud" is one of "us engineers."

"Johnny" Miner was a big asset to the team both on offensive and defensive. His spectacular shooting gave him second place in high point scorers in the Western Conference. He was elected captain of next year's quintet and a championship team can be hoped for under his leadership. Johnny is in the Arts College.

MINER

MICHAELS

"Mike" Michaels was under a handicap also this year in being a veteran of a different style of coaching. "Mike" played two years at Heidelberg and this was his first year of basketball at Ohio State. He would have been in more games here if he had had more experience. Nevertheless, Mike was a valuable man to the team. He is a senior in the Engineering College.

THE WRESTLING TEAM

(Standing)—Manager Balliet, Glaser, Freshley, Lemasters, Cryder.

The University had one championship brought home, at least, this year. The wrestling team copped the championship of the Western Conference against some mighty stiff competition. The team was led by our own Perry Martter, who was twice welterweight champion of the West.

Those on the team who are engineers are: Martter, Steele and Glaser. Eight men were awarded their major "O." They are: Captain Martter, Christopher, Cryder, Glaser, Hall, Lemasters, Slager and Steele. Balliet was awarded a manager's letter.

INTRAMURAL RESULTS

Competition has been very keen this year among the engineers in Intramural Athletics. The following is the final standing in basketball and Bowling.

THE RIFLE TEAM

Rifle shooting is becoming more popular every day at Ohio State. We have a very successful team, having won all of our matches this year. The team is comparatively young and so much credit is due the men who make up this year's team.

The matches are all done by wire, the opposing schools arranging to shoot on the same night and the results are wired and thus compared. It will probably not be long until inter-collegiate matches will be had, allowing the teams to make the trips to the various schools.

Thomas P. Lewis, an engineer, is the University champion and high point scorer for the team. He was entered also in the Columbus Dispatch Rifle Tournament and on the first round was tied for first place. On the shoot-off, however, he was defeated and thus took second place.
